Not a Snake Story.

While the quarrymen were getting out stone for the Southside Railroad last week in the stone quarries on the old Bank's farm west of Sandy, they found a knife deeply imbedded in the solid stone. How this knife got there is a question hard to understand. There had been twelve feet blasted off of the rock, which was twenty-four feet thick, in which the knife was found. Then there had been fifteen feet taken off of the side of the rock before the knife was reached, and the knife was found imbedded five feet from the top surface of the stone. It was a bone handle and iron jawed, with one blade, which was closed. The blade had rusted into two parts. One-half of the blade comes out of the handle. This is no snake story, but is the unvarnished truth, to which there are a number of witnesses, besides the knife itself.—Greenup Gazette.

GENERAL FOREIGN NEWS.

THE CHARLESTON EARTHQUAKE FUND A FAILURE IN LONDON.

True Story of the Reported Pardoning of the Spanish Insurgents—An Official Blunder Will Save Their Lives—The Austrian Parliament—Cable News.

London, Oct. 9.—The true story of the reported pardoning of the Spanish insurgents has just leaked out. It appears that at a meeting of the cabinet on Monday it was resolved that the death sentence of the court martial should be confirmed. The cabinet secretary, to whom Premier Sagasta whispered the decision, misunderstood the hurried remark, and going out announced to the crowd which had assembled to await the verdict, that the prisoners had been pardoned. The newspaper men rushed off and telegraphed the news to all parts of the country.

Senior Sagasta as soon as he learned of the mistake of the under secretary despaired of stopping the telegram, but sent a correction to all the newspapers. The press, however, did not believe in the correction, thinking that the cabinet wished to keep the pardon secret until after the convening of the Queen's council, and published the pardon as authentic.

The cabinet situation is a difficult one. If they really pardoned the insurgents, they did so against the dictates of their conscience and against the wishes of the army. If they did not pardon them, and the sentence of death were carried out, the public would have the queen forced their execution. The officials blunder has thus, probably, saved the insurgent lives.

The lord mayor's Charleston earthquake fund has fallen flat. The total donations to date amount to less than £2,000, and the fund is practically closed. The general feeling is that the money is not wanted.

The producers of the opera "Der Comper Van Sackingen" have received £15,000, of which the composer receives two-thirds and the librettist one-third.

The Austrian Parliament.
VIENNA, Oct. 9.—In the lower house of the Austrian parliament Count von Thadé said: "The supposition that the relations between Austria and Germany were in the least shaky was absolutely groundless. The relations between both countries are now, as heretofore, on a basis that the ministry had repeatedly defied before the delegations. There was no occasion to apprehend any wavering or disturbance of the close friendship relations of both sides."

A Million Dollar Fire Loss.
LONDON, Oct. 9.—A destructive fire occurred today at Charley. The fire broke out in Lawrence's extensive cotton mill, that place, and before the flames could be controlled the mills, together with four adjoining buildings, were destroyed. The loss will aggregate £1,000,000.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—A sensation was created here by the arrest of Comte Chirry, a natural grandson of the Duke of Brunswick, on a charge of swindling.

London Notes.
LONDON, Oct. 9.—A Brussels dispatch says: "Private advice from Vienna announces that Count Kalinsky has sent to M. Delessert, Russian foreign minister, a note concerning Gen. Kaubler's action in Bulgaria. It is couched in moderate language, but strongly blames some of Kalinsky's actions, and is the letter and spirit of the Berlin treaty."

The government recently ordered an inquiry into the reported capture of the colors of the Irish fusiliers at Davenport by a Catholic priest on the 7th of September last, and as a result of its investigation an order has been promulgated censuring all the parties concerned.

MONSIGNOR MORI.
He Claims That He is Visiting America for His Health.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9.—A morning paper publishes the following: Monsignor Mori, a member of the papal household at Rome, who has been reported by Pope Leo to visit the various dioceses in the United States and ascertain their actual standing, and report in person to the pontiff, is expected to arrive here last night. Monsignor Mori is also to inquire into the manner of selection of candidates for bishoprics when vacant. Monsignor Mori was sent by a United Press reporter.

He strenuously denies that he is traveling as an emissary of the pope. He is in this country as the representative of nobody but Monsignor Mori, and that he is visiting the United States for pleasure and the benefit of his health. He thinks that the letter of denial in this connection, which was received by Archbishop Corrigan two weeks ago from Secretary of State Cardinal Jacobini, and published in New York papers, should be sufficient to save him the annoying possibility of having to contradict those statements.

Extensive Frauds Disccovered.
DANVILLE, Va., Oct. 9.—Col. Monroe Heskett, acting as special examiner for the department of justice, claims to have discovered in Patrick county extensive frauds upon the government, extending over a series of years, committed by United States commissioners R. In order to successfully carry out the scheme many accomplices were necessary, all of whom shared the profits. The matter has been brought before the court.
